

York County Stormwater Advisory Committee Seeks District Representatives

Yorktown, March 27 –York County's Stormwater Advisory Committee is comprised of 12 citizen volunteers appointed by the Board of Supervisors to look at drainage and stormwater issues in the County: two members from each of the five districts plus one at-large member experienced in stormwater engineering and one at-large member with experience in public relations.

The Committee seeks new members to study and recommend improvements to the increasingly important drainage concerns in York County. If anyone is interested in becoming a member, fill out a Board Bank Application found on the County website at http://www.yorkcounty.gov/brds_com.htm

The Stormwater Advisory Committee has been proactive in addressing drainage and stormwater issues in the County and has produced the following publications:

- “A Homeowner's Guide to a Healthy Stormwater Drainage System” -- A brochure to educate citizens in ditch maintenance, stormwater pollution, flooding and much more.
- “What You Can Do to Reduce Flooding In Your Area”
- “What You Can Do to Reduce Pollution In Your Area”
- Also, the Committee is finalizing another brochure entitled “Maintaining Your Stormwater Lakes and Ponds.”

This information can be obtained from the Department of Environmental and Development Services at 105 Service Drive (off Goodwin Neck Road) or by visiting the Stormwater Advisory Committee's website at <http://www.yorkcounty.gov/stormwater>.
